About us

Ajar Film Productions is a Denver-based production company that specializes in film, documentaries, commercials, weddings and events. We are a team of highly trained professional cinematographers, editors, and drone pilots.

Our films have a cinematic style that is made to go beyond the content itself and leave a lasting impression on people's minds. This style resonates and makes each film unique and meaningful.

Ajar Film Productions' core values are to make films that are purposeful and long lasting. Our essence is making meaningful films for all.

Our practice

To ensure a high standard of excellence, we always include two professional videographers and an assistant in all of our packages.

We also work with high-end cameras and drones that record up to 6K video resolution. This allows for the film to be seen on the smallest phone screen to a large commercial movie theater screen without compromising the quality of the video.

We are committed to capture unique moments through the hands of our specialists. We are here to help you bring your most memorable events back to life.
